The planning and conduct of this study could not have been accomplished without the advice and assistance of several individuals. Responsible for its initiation was the National Institute of Health's Committee on Research Training Assessment who also provided guidance and feedback throughout its execution; Dr. John Norvell, National Institute of General Medical Sciences (Chair); Dr. Walter Schaffer, Office of Extramural Programs (Co-chair); Ms. Shelby Biedenkapp, Bureau of Health Professions; Dr. Lester Gorelic, National Cancer Institute; Dr. Bettie Graham, National Center for Human Genome Research; Dr. Milton Hernandez, National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases; Dr. Cara Krulewitch, National Institute of Nursing Research; Dr. James Lipton, National Institute of Dental Research, Dr. Kenneth Lutterman, National Institute of Mental Health, Dr. Bill McGarvey, Office of Extramural Research; Mr. Robert Moore, Office of Extramural Research; Dr. Carmen Moten, National Institute of Mental Health; Dr. James Onken, National Institute of General Medical Sciences; Dr. Carl Roth, National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute; Dr. Karen Rudzinski, Agency for Health Care Policy Research; Dr. Paul Seder, Office of Extramural Research; Dr. Charles Sherman, Office of; Mr. John Uzzell, Office of the Director; and Dr. Lorrita Watson, Office of the Director. The data compilation, file construction, and consultation provided by Ms. Mary Look, Ms. Kristi McSkimming, and Mr. Don McMaster at Quantum Research Corporation also were key to the execution of this project.

In any effort of this kind, there is always a small core of individuals among the several contributors who were consistently helpful. Dr. Paul Seder devoted considerable time in reviewing drafts and offering suggestions. Dr. John Norvell was not only a helpful reviewer but also a rich source of information and advice throughout all phases. In particular, Dr. Wally Schaffer deserves special recognition and acknowledgement – without his expertise, guidance, patience, and constant involvement, this evaluation would never have been conducted.

| EXECUTIVE SUMMARY | xiii |
|--------------------------------|------|

CHAPTER 1. AN OVERVIEW OF THE NRSA PREDOCTORAL TRAINING PROGRAMS AND THEIR EVALUATION

| | |
|---|--------|
| An Overview of the NRSA Predoctoral Training Programs | 1 - 1 |
| Basic Features of the NRSA Predoctoral Training: Programs | 1 - 3 |
| Changes in NRSA Predoctoral Policies and Practices | 1 - 5 |
| Completion of the Doctorate | 1 - 8 |
| Major Evaluation Questions and Methodology | 1 - 10 |
| Outcome Measures and Data Sources | 1- 12 |
| The Target Population | 1 - 14 |
| The Study and Comparison Groups | 1 - 15 |
| Structure of the Analyses and Organization of the Results | 1 - 17 |
| References | 1 - 19 |

CHAPTER 2. THE NRSA STUDY AND COMPARISON GROUPS: CHARACTERISTICS AND TRAINING

| | |
|--|--------|
| The Characteristics of NRSA Predoctoral Training Support | 2 - 1 |
| Field of Training | 2 - 2 |
| Institutes of Support | 2 - 3 |
| Type of NRSA Support | 2 - 5 |
| Duration and Timing of Support | 2 - 6 |
| The Role of NRSA Training Support during Graduate Study | 2 - 8 |
| The NRSA as a Source of Graduate Support | 2 - 9 |
| The Quality of Doctoral Training Environments | 2 - 12 |
| Undergraduate Background | 2 - 13 |
| Reputation of the Doctorate-Granting Institution | 2 - 14 |
| Other Indicators of Doctoral Training Experiences | 2 - 16 |
| Comparability of the NRSA Study and Comparison Groups on Other Characteristics | 2 - 19 |
| The Biomedical Sciences | 2 - 19 |
| The Behavioral Sciences | 2 - 21 |
| Summary | 2 - 22 |
